“THE FLU” – A GUIDE FOR PARENTS

Member Name _____

What is the Influenza (Flu) Virus?

Influenza (the “flu”) is caused by a virus, which infects the nose, throat, and lungs. According to the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the flu is more dangerous than the common cold for children. Unlike the common cold, the flu can cause severe illness and life-threatening complications in many people. Children under 5 who have the flu commonly need medical care. Severe flu complications are most common in children younger than 2 years old. Flu season can begin as early as October and last as late as May.

How can I tell if my child has a cold or the flu?

Most People with the flu feel tired and have fever, headache, dry cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, and sore muscles. Some people, especially children, may also have stomach problems and diarrhea. Because the flu and colds have similar symptoms, it can be difficult to tell the difference between them based on symptoms alone. In general, the flu is worse than the common cold and symptoms such as fever, body aches, extreme tiredness, and a dry cough are more common and intense. People with colds are more likely to have a runny or stuffy nose. Colds generally do not result in serious health problems, such as pneumonia, bacterial infections, or hospitalization.

What should I do if my child gets sick?

Consult your doctor and make sure your child gets plenty of rest and drinks lots of fluids. Never give aspirin or medicine that has aspirin in it to children or teenagers who may have the flu.

Call or take your child to a doctor right away if your child:

- Has a high fever that lasts a long time
- Has trouble breathing or breathes fast
- Has skin that looks blue
- Is not drinking enough
- Seems confused, will not wake up, does not want to be held, or has seizures (uncontrolled shaking)
- Gets better, but then worse again
- Has other conditions (like heart or lung disease, diabetes) that get worse

How can I protect my child from the flu?

A flu vaccine is the best way to protect against the flu. The virus changes year to year, and annual vaccinations against the flu are recommended. The CDC recommends that all children from the ages of 6 months up to their 19th birthday receive a flu vaccine every fall or winter (children receiving a vaccine for the first time require two doses). You also can protect your child by receiving a flu vaccine yourself.

What can I do to prevent the spread of germs?

The main way that the flu spreads is in respiratory droplets from coughing and sneezing. This can happen when droplets from a cough or sneeze of an infected person are propelled through the air and infect someone nearby. Though much less frequent, the flu may also spread through indirect contact with contaminated hands and articles soiled with nose and throat secretions. To prevent the spread of germs:

- Wash hands often with soap and water.
- Cover mouth/nose during coughs and sneezing. If you don’t have a tissue, cough, or sneeze into your upper sleeve, not your hand.
- Limit contact with people who show signs of illness.
- Keep hands away from the face. Germs are often spread when a person touches his or her eyes, nose, or mouth.

When should my child stay home from childcare?

A person may be contagious and able to spread the virus 1 day before showing symptoms up to 5 days after being sick. The time frame could be longer for children and people who don’t fight disease well (people with weakened immune systems). When sick, your child should stay at home to rest and try to avoid giving the flu to other children and should not return to childcare or other group settings until his or her temperature has been normal for 24 hours.

During the 2009 legislative session, a new law was passed that requires childcare facilities, family day care homes, and large family childcare homes to provide parents with information detailing the causes, symptoms, and transmission of the influenza virus (the flu) every year during August and September.

For additional information about the dangers of the flu and how to protect your child, visit: <http://www.cdc.gov/flu/> or <http://www.immunizeflorida.org>
